RETURN TO RAVENLOFT

Adventure 3: Lair of the Dracholich

A somber dawn rises on the little town of Barovia.
A direct descendent of Strahd Von Zarovich now sits upon the throne of Ravenloft. Duke Vanimir Von Bludhaven has returned to the castle to reclaim his birthright in blood!
Having kidnapped the town Cleric, Vanimir has trapped him in the dungeons beneath the castle where he is being subjected to torture and pain. To make matter worse, the Duke has resurrected Gravestorm, a powerful and ferocious Dracolich that is only loyal to the heirs of Ravenloft. Vanimir plans on unleashing Gravestorm and his unholy forces to lay waste to Barovia and he intends doing so at midnight of this very day.

The only hope you had in defeating the dreaded Dracolich rested with Father Langdon, who had knowledge of the arcane magic of Ravenloft and its many monsters including where a Phylactery for a Dracolich may be stored!
Knowing very well that the odds are against you, you and your adventuring party suit up for what may very well be a suicide mission. You do not know if the Cleric is alive or dead, only that, one way or another you are going to have to battle and destroy the Dracolich Gravestorm!

Special Adventure Rules

* Your Hero starts the adventure with 2 treasure items (3 if you opt for an easier play).
* At the end of every complete cycle (all Heroes having gone through a full turn), flip over an hourglass token. If all of the hourglass tokens are flipped and the Heroes have not yet explored the Arcane Circle tile, the Heroes lose the adventure. The castle has awoken and Father Langdon has been killed!
* When you reach the Arcane Circle tile, do not place a Monster. Instead, each Hero regains 1HP.
* If you roll a nat 20, you may flip over any one used power. This is irrespective of whether or not you defeat the Monster.
* For any single attack made by your hero during your Hero phase that netts you 4+XP, you may draw two treasure cards instead of one.

When You Start the Adventure, Read:

"Once again you descend into the dark deep dungeons of Ravenloft. The dungeons are deadly quiet. For now at least, the master of the castle sleeps. But time is slipping away and midnight draws ever nearer! Far off in the distance you can make out the feint echo of a cry for help. You need to get to Father Langdon quickly!"

ADVENTURE 3

When you reach the Arcane Circle tile, read:

*"Arcane light fills the room ahead and you see the weak, frail figure of Father Langdon shackled to the wall, beaten and bruised. You rush towards him, unbind his chains and manage to revive him with a healing vial. His words are little more than a pained whisper: 'He plans to attack Barovia at midnight...has the Dracolich Gravestorm to aid his foul work. But, he underestimated this old Cleric! I managed to escape for a little while, if only to hide Gravestorm's phylactery from him. It's in a workshop in the dungeons. He...cough cough...he won't find it! Enraged him when he found out what I done, tortured me for hours but I wasn't about to give in. I'm Lenazar Langdon, Cleric of light! I have one last spell though...one last offering to the light...' Murmuring softly, a bright light erupts suddenly from the Cleric's palms and travels upwards towards the already approaching night sky. 'There, that will keep the wretched vampire asleep for a few more hours and buy you enough time. I hastily scribbled down a path to the workshop but I was pursued, hid the map under a bone pile somewhere nearby. You MUST find the map and find the workshop and destroy the phylactery! Then, the Dracholich will be more vulnerable. My friends, you have risked much for a man who has little hold left on life. Do not be saddened, my body is spent and I go now to the halls of my fathers. Farewell...adventurers...'"*

* After exploring the Arcane Circle tile, remove all hourglass tokens from the start tile and place them all face up on the Arcane Circle tile.
* Shuffle the map item token along with the 5 random item tokens and place them face down in a small box or holder nearby.
* At the end of every Hero phase, if a Hero is adjacent to a bone pile on any dungeon tile, they may 'investigate' 'the bone pile:
* Draw a token from the box or holder. If you do NOT draw the map token, you found nothing useful! Flip over an hourglass token on the arcane circle.
* If all the hourglass tokens are flipped over and the map token has not been found, you failed to uncover the Workshop. You will now need to battle the Dracolich at full strength!
* If you manage to draw the map token, you found Father Langdon's map to the workshop! Place the map token on your Hero card and place the Workshop tile adjacent to an unexplored edge of a tile that is at least 4 tiles away from Hero.
(If there are no unexplored tiles 4 tiles away from your Hero, then place the Workshop tile as far away as possible.)
* A Hero carrying a map token may take an additional move action during their Hero phase. Discard the map token after.

When you reach the Workshop tile, read:

"True to his last words, you find the Dracolich's silver orb phylactery hidden on the 3rd shelf of a large bookcase behind a book labelled 'Eat, Prey, Blood'. Without hesitation, you smash the orb onto the cold stone floor. A blinding flash of light and then...from somewhere within the dungeon, a terrifying, menacing screech of rage. Gravestorm is not pleased!"

When the Rotting Nook tile is explored, read:

"An unbearable stench of decay and rot fills nauseates your senses with a putrid pungency. A dense green mist permeates the corridoor ahead and you hear a rasping, scraping sound as if the very air were being impaled by some sinister devilry. Two wretched white eyes appear out of the nook, followed by a skeletal gaping maw with dagger-like teeth that crackle with electricity. The floor shudders and booms as the shadowy Dracolich approaches. Gravestorm, loyal only to the heir of Ravenloft, has but one intention: Kill!"

Victory: The Heroes win this adventure if they successfully defeat the Dracolich.
Defeat:
The Heroes lose this adventure if any one Hero's HP is reduced to 0 and there are no more healing surges remaining.
The Heroes also lose this adventure if all of the hourglass tokens are flipped and the Heroes have not yet explored the Arcane Circle tile.
